

BRONTOSAURUS (to 75 ft. long)

bron-to-sau-rus (brōn' tō sôr'əs) n., pl. -sau'rūs-es, saur-i (-i) [ModL. <
Gr. brōniz, thunder +
-saurūs] a huge, plant-
eating American dinosaur of the Jurassic Period, which had a long,
slender neck and a thick,
tapering tail, and weighed
as much as 30 tons; also bronto-saur (-sôr')

Bronx (brōngks) [after Jonas Bronx, early N.Y.
settler] northernmost
borough of New York City, between the Har-
lem River & Long Island
Sound; pop. 1,169,000

BRONTOSAURUS
(to 75 ft. long)

Bronx cheer [Slang] a noisy vibration of the lips and the extended tongue to show derision or scorn
[from the Bronx & MT. brontosaurus see]

Huge Dinosaurs Battled to the Death in prehistoric swamps.
The meat-eating Allosaurus, right, preyed on the huge, plant-eating Brontosaurus, left, millions of years before man appeared.